Packages

Whether you are planning a wedding, attending a black tie event, heading off to the races or attending a school formal, Ferrari Formalwear have the appropriate suit package for you.

Weddings

Ferrari Formalwear pay close attention to the colours that bridal gowns and bridesmaid dresses are offered in and endeavour to make sure our formal accessories match or complement your wedding colours.

Your Ferrari Formalwear consultant will guide you through our suit collection after they gain an understanding of your wedding theme.

Suit Hire – How does it work?

Selecting the perfect outfit for your special occasion requires a little bit of Tender Loving Care. That's where Ferrari Formalwear's professional formalwear consultants will help.

At your initial appointment we will discuss the dress code of your function and help you find your perfect outfit, complete your initial fitting and place your order.

At this time a bond is taken to secure your booking, your suit will be ready for a final fitting and collection will take place a few days before the function.

At the final fitting we will ensure that all items fit correctly and, most of all, you look great and feel comfortable. If any changes are required, this can be done on the final days before the event.

Finally, the outfit is returned the next business day following the function and your bond returned. The cost of dry cleaning is included in the hire fee.

Dress codes

No one likes to appear at any event under or over dressed. When planning a special event or wedding, ensure that your guests are made aware of the dress code. Here is a guide:

Classic Black Tie

A tuxedo suit is possibly the sexiest, most manliest suit you'll ever wear! While some call it a dinner suit, others prefer calling it a tuxedo. Either way, a black tie suit traditionally has a satin trim lapel, white or ivory shirt with a formal collar or pleats and a black bow tie.

Try the Anton style.

Creative Black Tie

Creative black tie brings together the traditional aspects of a black tie suit combined with a modern and more vibrant look. For example, mix the classic black tie suit with a coloured vest and slim tie.

Try the Milano style.

Formal

Nothing screams style, class and sophistication more than a three piece suit. Whether it's a black tie suit or a lounge suit, formal means VEST. It's all about complementing the jacket and pants to ensure that lasting impression.

Try the Cannes style.

Lounge Suit

The lounge suit is more of a casual style of suiting. There are no specific rules – you don't need a tie, the colour is up to you and light coloured shoes are fine. Lounge suits can also be colours other than black. An open neck shirt under a beige two piece suit is totally acceptable.

Try the Barney style.

Smart Casual

Although not advisable for weddings, smart casual basically means anything goes. Suits can be replaced with trousers and jackets are not essential. Just remember no denim, no T-shirts and no sport shoes!

Try the Mackenzie with an open shirt.

Wedding Suits

When planning your wedding, remember the extended family and friends who may require a suit for your special day.

There is nothing more stunning than a wedding celebration where all of the guests are suited up and look amazing.

Asking some senior family members if they would like you to take care of their hire suit planning for the wedding will make them feel special. Regardless of their location, your family and friends can be fitted by a Ferrari Formalwear consultant and have their suit ready to be picked up with the wedding party suits.

Consider all of your family, friends, guests and attendants when booking your hire suits. As well as the Wedding Party, also think about whoever is giving the Bride away, the Father of the Bride and Groom, Grandfathers, Uncles and the Master of Ceremonies.

Use the checklist following to ensure you remember all of your family and friends!
